

PROFILE OF AN ISU EDUCATOR

ISU educators are self-aware and act upon their duties as global citizens to LEARN . CONNECT . CONTRIBUTE. in order to promote justice and sustainability in pursuit of a more equitable, inclusive, and just world.

LEARN

ISU educators are lifelong learners, who are curious, reflective and innovative agents of their learning.

We demonstrate this by:

- courageously seeking to develop ourselves and others through professional learning and feedback.
- engaging in reflective practice and actively embracing opportunities to grow, take risks and innovate.

CONNECT

ISU educators are caring, collaborative and thoughtful communicators who seek to build and develop connections within the school community and beyond.

We demonstrate this by:

- building relational trust through empathetic and open-minded listening and engagement.
- collaborating with others by being approachable, flexible, and contributing to the community through integrity, and commitment.

CONTRIBUTE

ISU educators are principled, globally minded educators who act upon their strengths, passions and areas of expertise that allow them to uniquely contribute to the school, local and global community.

We demonstrate this by:

- modeling global citizenship, and advocating for collective action to create a fairer and more just world.
- taking action to identify problems and seeking diverse perspectives in pursuit of sustainable solutions.
